

Projects - Residential

Samson & Hercules

Norwich

Value £3m

Completed

Restaurant and 17 Apartments

A former famous nightclub in the City, this redevelopment for a London based developer converted the historic part of the building into a ground floor restaurant with spacious residential apartments above on two levels. The rear consists of two new blocks of apartments which replace the former nightclub dancefloor. The historic part of the building is built on the site of the sixteenth century Mayor of Norwich's residence and is rumoured to be haunted and with tunnel links to the nearby Norwich Cathedral. Archaeological investigations have revealed several skeletons which are over one thousand years old.

Retirement Apartments
Roundwood Close Care Development
Norfolk

28 two-bedroomed apartments designed specifically for the 55+ age group

Development proposal
Cawston, Norfolk

Refurbishment and new-build development plan for private client